We are thrilled to continue fostering a school culture that emphasizes not just academic and college readiness, but also social-emotional well-being. Each week, we share a positive coping skill with students through our Monday broadcasts. We're also looking forward to starting Guidance Lessons this month, which will allow us to build connections with our students while they get to know us better.

To learn more about our counseling program, parent resources and support, and Title I updates, please join us on Thursday, September 12, from 8:00 to 9:00 a.m. in the Library, on our campus. If you have any questions or would like to speak with us, feel free to reach out by phone, in person, or via email.

You can also check out our website for more info and follow us on twitter.

Social Emotional Learning/Learning Environment Practices

As a campus we are all about building positive relationships. From the moment students walk through the door we focus on personalized morning greetings, sharing good things, and providing a nurturing classroom environment that promotes optimal learning for all students.

Aprendizaje socioemocional/Prácticas ambientales de aprendizaje

Como escuela, nos preocupamos por construir relaciones positivas. Desde el momento en que los estudiantes cruzan la puerta, nos centramos en saludarlos por la mañana de manera personalizada, compartir cosas buenas y brindar un ambiente de clase enriquecedor que promueva un aprendizaje óptimo para todos los estudiantes.
